Camp Outlook COVID-19 Risk Acknowledgement

What is COVID-19?

COVID-19 is a highly contagious virus that can cause respiratory infection. Some COVID-19 variants are associated with increased transmission and/or increased severity of symptoms.

How it spreads:

COVID-19 spreads person-to-person through direct contact with respiratory droplets of someone who is carrying the virus (eg. when they cough or sneeze). It can also be spread by touching an object that has the virus on it and then touching your mouth, nose, or eyes.

Symptoms:

Symptoms can include cough, fever, aches, fatigue, difficulty breathing, and feeling unwell. It is possible for someone to have an infection and be contagious without having any symptoms.

Complications:

Complications can escalate to severe respiratory illness, long term illness, and/or death.

We have been working with KFL&A Public Health to adapt our programs to current COVID-19 pandemic risks and will continue to follow all Ontario regulations. The safety of Camp Outlook's campers and volunteers remains our highest priority. While we are following procedures to minimize COVID-19 spread, we cannot eliminate the possibility of transmission. Attending Camp Outlook programs could increase your risk of contracting and/or spreading COVID-19.

I have read and understand the above and understand the risk associated with going on a Camp Outlook trip during the COVID-19 pandemic. I agree to not hold Outlook Camping Inc. ("Camp Outlook") responsible for any possible COVID-19 infection, or complication arising from a COVID-19 infection, acquired by the Camper: _____ during Camp Outlook activities.
